Beatrix Farrand Society Facilities Committee Report

The Facilities Committee undertook two projects over the winter. One was to change the upper windows in the barn to awning hinges so that the windows can be left open during the summer to allow venturi ventilation in the barn while preventing rain from coming in, besides that the windows were also blackened and screened for further comfort during lectures. The other project was to develop and build a teak box for information and donations that will be placed in the parking lot before entering the historic property.
